

20th century Indian art from Swiss private collection at Sotheby's sale

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, May 27

THIRTY 20TH CENTURY Indian artworks from the private collection of Swiss collectors Guy and Helen Barbier will go under the hammer at Sotheby's upcoming sale on June 10.

The collection built over a span of three decades, was exhibited in 1987 in the form of a show titled 'Coups de Coeur'.

An outcome of the Barbiers' commitment to discovering and celebrating Indian art, more than two thirds of the works were acquired directly from the artists and none have ever been offered at an auction before.

Highlights of the sale include a rare 1953 figurative work by Ram Kumar, one of the India's foremost abstract painters. The painting featuring a man and woman holding hands was originally intended as a gift from Kumar to his wife. The Barbiers acquired the work when the artist sold it to them in 1985-86 because of "their hospitality and generosity". It is estimated between ₹1.94 - 2.47 crore.

Another work by Kumar, a 1967 oil on canvas from his celebrated Varanasi series, will also be part of the sale.

Also acquired by the Barbiers directly from the artist in 1982, this painting has not been seen in thirty years since 1987.

The work, estimated between ₹88.40 lakh to ₹1.32 crore, straddles the boundaries between abstraction and realism. With its sombre hues and dark shadows, this haunting vista matches the mysteries of the sacred city itself. "Having first met the Barbiers in 2005 and over many conversations with Mr Barbier throughout the years, we are honoured to present this extraordinary collection this June. The Barbiers were pioneering for their time, collected in the 1980s in a field of Indian art that few westerners sought. Their works are historic, exciting and fresh. It has been a coup for us as well to work on this collection," Yamini Mehta, deputy chairman, Indian and South Asian Art, said.

Also part of the sale would be two oil on canvases by M F Husain - "Marathi Women" (1950), and "Umbrella VII" (1978). In "Umbrella VII", one can see a village woman whose face is obscured by the umbrella.
